Program Overview

1000 Books Before Kindergarten is a nationwide initiative that promotes the joy of story. This free program ranges from newborn to just before kindergarten.

How to Participate

Visit Us

1. Visit your local Ozark Regional Library branch to pick up a packet of information, free tote bag, and registration form.

Register

2. Turn in your registration form and start recording your books on your reading log. Please start recording books only after you have turned in your registration information. Come to the library for additional reading logs or print them from our website at ozarkregional.org/1000books.html. The library will keep your reading logs and return them upon completion.

Book Logs

3. You can write down any completed books that have been read to your child, including those read by relatives or teachers, and you may repeat books.

Core Reading Guide

4. Readers can choose 900 books on their own, but we ask that 100 of their selections come from our core reading guide of notable or award-winning books. Our core reading guide can be found in your packet of information or online at ozarkregional.org/1000books.html.

Read Harder Challenge

5. We have included an additional challenge titled "Read Harder." The goal is to ensure that children are exposed to a wide range of materials. If your child completes this challenge, then they will be eligible to receive one free book. Participants are not required to complete this challenge in order to finish the 1000 Books Before Kindergarten program.

Graduation Party

6. Once your child has completed the program, we will invite you to our graduation party where your child will receive an award.
